ADA hotline: 1-800-514-0301. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) defines a service dog as trained to do work or perform tasks for a person with a disability. Service dogs are not required to wear equipment, ID, or be "certified". Per the ADA, one can only ask: 1) is the animal required because of a disability? 2) what work or tasks does the animal perform? Individuals with disabilities have the right to bring their service dogs in taxis, buses, stores, restaurants, hospitals, schools, hotels, and other public places. Service dogs should never be separated from their handlers. They may only be denied access if the dog is out of control or not housebroken.

ADA hotline: 1-800-514-0301. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) defines a service dog as trained to do work or perform tasks for a person with a disability. Service dogs are not required to wear equipment, ID, or be "certified". Per the ADA, one can only ask: 1) is the animal required because of a disability? 2) what work or tasks does the animal perform? Individuals with disabilities have the right to bring their service dogs in taxis, buses, stores, restaurants, hospitals, schools, hotels, and other public places. Service dogs should never be separated from their handlers. They may only be denied access if the dog is out of control or not housebroken.

ADA hotline: 1-800-514-0301. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) defines a service dog as trained to do work or perform tasks for a person with a disability. Service dogs are not required to wear equipment, ID, or be "certified". Per the ADA, one can only ask: 1) is the animal required because of a disability? 2) what work or tasks does the animal perform? Individuals with disabilities have the right to bring their service dogs in taxis, buses, stores, restaurants, hospitals, schools, hotels, and other public places. Service dogs should never be separated from their handlers. They may only be denied access if the dog is out of control or not housebroken.

ADA hotline: 1-800-514-0301. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) defines a service dog as trained to do work or perform tasks for a person with a disability. Service dogs are not required to wear equipment, ID, or be "certified". Per the ADA, one can only ask: 1) is the animal required because of a disability? 2) what work or tasks does the animal perform? Individuals with disabilities have the right to bring their service dogs in taxis, buses, stores, restaurants, hospitals, schools, hotels, and other public places. Service dogs should never be separated from their handlers. They may only be denied access if the dog is out of control or not housebroken.

ADA hotline: 1-800-514-0301. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) defines a service dog as trained to do work or perform tasks for a person with a disability. Service dogs are not required to wear equipment, ID, or be "certified". Per the ADA, one can only ask: 1) is the animal required because of a disability? 2) what work or tasks does the animal perform? Individuals with disabilities have the right to bring their service dogs in taxis, buses, stores, restaurants, hospitals, schools, hotels, and other public places. Service dogs should never be separated from their handlers. They may only be denied access if the dog is out of control or not housebroken. ADA hotline: 1-800-514-0301. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) defines a service dog as trained to do work or perform tasks for a person with a disability. Service dogs are not required to wear equipment, ID, or be "certified". Per the ADA, one can only ask: 1) is the animal required because of a disability? 2) what work or tasks does the animal perform? Individuals with disabilities have the right to bring their service dogs in taxis, buses, stores, restaurants, hospitals, schools, hotels, and other public places. Service dogs should never be separated from their handlers. They may only be denied access if the dog is out of control or not housebroken.

ADA hotline: 1-800-514-0301. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) defines a service dog as trained to do work or perform tasks for a person with a disability. Service dogs are not required to wear equipment, ID, or be "certified". Per the ADA, one can only ask: 1) is the animal required because of a disability? 2) what work or tasks does the animal perform? Individuals with disabilities have the right to bring their service dogs in taxis, buses, stores, restaurants, hospitals, schools, hotels, and other public places. Service dogs should never be separated from their handlers. They may only be denied access if the dog is out of control or not housebroken.

ADA hotline: 1-800-514-0301. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) defines a service dog as trained to do work or perform tasks for a person with a disability. Service dogs are not required to wear equipment, ID, or be "certified". Per the ADA, one can only ask: 1) is the animal required because of a disability? 2) what work or tasks does the animal perform? Individuals with disabilities have the right to bring their service dogs in taxis, buses, stores, restaurants, hospitals, schools, hotels, and other public places. Service dogs should never be separated from their handlers. They may only be denied access if the dog is out of control or not housebroken.

ADA hotline: 1-800-514-0301. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) defines a service dog as trained to do work or perform tasks for a person with a disability. Service dogs are not required to wear equipment, ID, or be "certified". Per the ADA, one can only ask: 1) is the animal required because of a disability? 2) what work or tasks does the animal perform? Individuals with disabilities have the right to bring their service dogs in taxis, buses, stores, restaurants, hospitals, schools, hotels, and other public places. Service dogs should never be separated from their handlers. They may only be denied access if the dog is out of control or not housebroken.

ADA hotline: 1-800-514-0301. The Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) defines a service dog as trained to do work or perform tasks for a person with a disability. Service dogs are not required to wear equipment, ID, or be "certified". Per the ADA, one can only ask: 1) is the animal required because of a disability? 2) what work or tasks does the animal perform? Individuals with disabilities have the right to bring their service dogs in taxis, buses, stores, restaurants, hospitals, schools, hotels, and other public places. Service dogs should never be separated from their handlers. They may only be denied access if the dog is out of control or not housebroken.